UK, Iran hold talks to normalise relations

WALLTY SWITCHES

GENEVA, Sept 28, (Reuter): Britain and Iran today extended their talks into a second day in a bid to normalise their diplomatic relations, a British spokesman

David Myers, British Under-secretary of State for the Middle East, and Mahmond Naczi, head of the Iranian Foreign Ministry's West European desk, held about 10 hours of talks at an undis-closed Geneva residence yester-

They are still meeting, and the talks will be extended most of the day," a spokesman at the British diplomatic mission said.

The talks are progressing. He said it was "highly unlikely" that a statement would be issued at the end of the meeting.

The two sides are also discussing the search for a lasting peace settlement between Iran and Iraq following the declaration of a ceasefire in the eight-year-old Gulf war on Aug 20.

London and Tehrau downgraded their diplomatic representation to just one diplomateach in June 1987, after the detention of an Iranian diplomat in Britain for shoplift-ing and the alleged manhandling of a British diplomat in Iran. Britain has said it will re-open its Tehran mission only if British diplomats are given a guarantee. of security. It is also seeking an ccord that future relations be based on reciprocity - equal numbers of representatives with British Foreign Secretary Geoffrey Howe and Iranian Foreign Minister Ali Akbar Velayatiane to meet in New York on Friday on the fringes of the UN General Assembly.

The spokesman said the fate of British hostages held in Lebanoo by pro-Iranian groups would not ians know our position oo this e 28 alloud issue. 'he added.

Army holds solution in Lebanon: Aoun

BEIRUT, Sept 28, (Reuter): The head of Lebanon's new Christian cabinet, locked in a power struggle with a rival Muslim government, told his Army today to be ready to defend the country's

General Michel Aoun, who is also Army commander, said in an order of the day to his 35,000 troops that a solution to Lebanon's political crisis began with them.

"Your role is coming ... through you, the homeland's ordeal will end," said Aonn, appointed by outgoing President Amin Gemayel on Thursday to head an interim military govern-

Gemayel charged Aoun's administration with carrying out presidential duties until a successor could be elected, but Muslim leaders pledged continued allegiance to the incumbent government of acting Prime Minister Selim Al Hoss. Doomed

"Any equation in which you are not a basic element is doomed to failure," Aoun told the Army. "No one hut you is ready to hurn his fingers to put out the country's fire, and save Lebanon from the dangers of disintegration, partition, occupation and resettlement." Parliamentary Speaker Hussein Husseini, a Shi itc Muslim, called on deputies, past ministers and former heads of states to attend an "emergency national conference" tomorrow to

A pro-Syrian politician said Husseini wanted to seek consensus on the crisis which erunted when Gemayel's term ended last Thursday without rival factions prevent the breakup of the coun-agreeing on a successor. Existence Parliamentary sources said they expected few of the 41 Christians among the 76 surviving deputies to heed Husseini's call because it would mean crossing the Green Line battle zone into Muslim West Beirut. Former President Suleiman Franjieh and some Christian ministers were expected at the talks at the Bristol Hotel, a base for pro-Syrian Lebanese politicians and Syrian officers.

The existence of two rival governments and the lack of a President have thrown Lebanon, devastated by 13 years of civil war, deeper into chaos.

The uncertainty was reflected on financial markets, where the Lebanese pound has lost 10 per cent of its international value since last Thursday.

"People fear a new escalation of violence. They feel insecure and have lost confidence in their national currency. They are rushing to huy dollars, expecting worse," a Central Bank source Both Hoss and Aoun claim their respective cabinets to be the only legitimate authority and stress they want to provide the right climate for a smooth presidential electioo. In an attempt to help hreak the deadlock, new US Ambassador John McCarthy today met the highest Muslim religious auth-orities, Sunni Mufti Shcikh Hassan Khaled and the vice-president of the higher Shi'ite council, Sheikh Mohammed Mehdi Shamseddine.

Bomb blast hurts 19 in Lebanon

KHALDE, Lebanon, Sept 28, (Reuter): A Syrian officer and four soldiers were among 19 people wounded when a bomh in a small truck exploded near a Syrian checkpoint south of Beirut today, witnesses and police said.

Witnesses said the bomb went off near the Khalde intersection checkpoint manned hy scores of troops and plainclothes mtelligence men.

Police said 19 people, includ-ing a Syrian officer and four soldiers, were wounded.

The intersection links Beirut to South Lebanon and the mountains and is a main supply route for Syria's 25,000 troops in the war-torn country.

Witnesses said the pickup truck was parked near the checkpoint. One witness said torn limbs and shredded military clothing lay in pools of blood. "The pickup was turned into twisted and charred metal," he UNITED NATIONS, Sept 28, (KUNA): HH the Amir of Kuwait, Sheikh Jaber Al Ahmed Al Sabah, today hailed the breakthrough achieved by the United States and Soviet Union in their efforts to reduce tension in the world.

At the same time, however, the Kuwaiti head of state delivered a stinging indictment of the policies of the rich countries of the North in their dealings with the poor countries of the South.

With regard to superpower relations, the Amir hailed the agreement between the Soviet Union and the United States that lead to the reduction of nuclear arsenals and to the defusing of several complex international

"From this restrum I would like to commend and land both the American and Soviet people for the breakthroughs achieved by hoth the United States President, Ronald Reagan, and the Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev," the Amir said.

"Smaller nations view this rapprochement with a deep sense of optimism, and oow cherish a fresh hope that the current uoderstaoding will eventually have positive and not negative implications on the long-awaited just solutions of their problems in order to attain their legitimate

Speaking as chairman of the fifth session of the 46-member Organisation of Islamic Conference (OIC), the Amir, in a historic address before the UN General Assembly, called for a meeting of creditor nations as part of a three-point plan to help developing countries overcome their problems.

Examine

The meeting should examine the question of writing off interest on outstanding loans and forgive part of the principal to the poorest countries, the

"Kuwait, for its part, as a creditor country, stands ready to attend such a parley and is willing to comply with whatever resolutions might be adopted in that respect," the Amir said.

"In our view, such an initiative offers a far better approach to address the matter in a more practical and effective fashion rather than leaving it to be resolved on the basis of the dcbtors' demand," he said.

The Amir also called on the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and World Bank, now bolding their joint annual meeting in West Berlin, to reconsider their stringent conditions affecting states seeking development aid from both institutions.

Finally, the Amir urged the northern countries to expand and regulate technical and scientifie aid to the South.

The Amir was the first speaker and only head of state to address the assembly today.

The problem of foreign debt and the mounting debt servicing burden, the Amir said, has become an impediment to and a severe restriction on develop-

It is also being used as a tool for pressure on the Sooth in an attempt to secure its primary commodities at depressed prices, while the northern countries manufactured goods and cereals arc sold to the southern couotries' at constantly rising prices, creating an ever-widening gap between the two groups.

Dumping

Furthermore, be charged, some industrial enterprises of certain northern countries "maliciously utilised" certain areas in some poor countries as dumping grounds for nuclear and toxic waste, sometimes with the knowledge of the governments concerned.

"All this could be summed up in a nutshell question, namely: "Why is all this tremendous pressure put on the South and even sabotage actions are committed against it?" the Amir asked.

Nations of the South have to cope with natural disasters such as lengthy droughts, floods, locusts and the outhreak of epidemics, he said.
"Our friends in the North have opted to aggravate our problems by creating further plagues that destroy our ecological systems as well as our buman resources, thus undermining our ability to move ahead toward a better future," he said.

Following his 32-page speech in Arabic, the Amir went to the Indonesian lounge of the Assem-bly Hall where dignitaries from around the world were waiting in a long line to congratulate him.

Discussing regional political conflicts, the Amir said that Lebanon stands no chance of continuity without national unity and coexistence among all Lebanese factions. "The future of Lebanon must be determined entirely by the Lehanese themselves. Occupation forces of the Israeli entity must withdraw from Lebanese territory they occupy under the pretext of security that is invoked to justify any act of aggression and expansion," the Amir said. Discussing the Palestinian problem, the Amir said all the Palestinian people are demand-ing is to have their independent state over their land; with their capital Jerusalem, under the lcadership of the Palestine Liberation Organisation, their sole legitimate representative. "Every person sitting this hall bas a bomeland and a house to live in, carries a passport, and knows where to turn in safety at the end of our meetings here and looks forward to a happy family get-together at the end of the day," the Amir told delegations from 158 countries, observers and spectators.

The UN had 159 members, but South Africa has been expelled.
"The Palestinian people demand nothing more than that which we all have," he said.

Conflict

Commenting on the Iraq-Iran conflict, the Amir said oo matter how long hostilities last and with belligerents eventually bave no option hut coexistence, good neighbourliness and cooperation io promoting life, while showing respect for national sovereignly and independence of every system, and the system of govern-ment it has chosen for itself."

The Amir expressed appreciation for the European Economic Community's attitude toward the Middle East problem, saying the Community's approach is hased on dialogue with all the peace-seeking parties.

Accordingly, the socialist group within the Community invited PLO leader Yasser Arafat to address the European Parliament earlier this month, and provided him a chance to meet and deliberate with senior Community officials, he said.

"It is our trope that similar fresh, favourable wind will be hlowing across the Atlantic Ocean to reach the New World which we hope will be able to heed more attentively the just Palestinian voice and to demonstrate open-mindedness and tolerance in dialoguing with Palestinian intellectuals and legitimate representatives, and

Iraq is working on super-weapon: Saddam

BAGHDAD, Sept 28, (Reuter): Iraq, at peace for the first time in eight years, is working on a new super-weapon, President Sad-dam Hussein said at a medals presentation ceremony here.

The President gave no hint what the new weapon might be, but said it was in service with only two other countries.

He said he had been told during a visit to Iraq's military industry establishment that "we will possess something which puts Iraq among only two other countries in the world "This talk is real and not meant for propaganda," he told military and government leaders being honoured yesterday for their roles in the Gulf war ngainst

During the later stage of the conflict, which ended in a ceasefire on Aug 20, Iraq used long-range missiles capable of striking targets 650 km (400 miles) away. Tehran was among Iranian cities struck by the new Western military experts said the missiles were extended-range versions of Soviet-designed Scud-BS, already seen on Gulf war battlefronts. Iraq insisted the missiles were home-designed and manufactured.

The President said some countries were disturbed hy Bagh-dad's victories in the Gulf war. That concern began, he said, when the first Iraqi missilc struck Tehran. During the ceremony, Hussein said he hoped the ceasefire with Iran would yield a lasting peace, "... and both the Iranians and Iraqis (would) live happily in their countries with full pride and honour.

Kuwait working to resume normal ties with Iran

WASHINGTON, Sept 28, (KUNA): Kuwait's Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Saoud Al Osaimi said here today that Kuwait is now working to reestablish normal relations with Iran and may reopen the embassy in Tehran.

In an interview with the Washington Post, the Kuwaiti official said that despite Iranian missile attacks on Kuwait during the war, and Iranian-inspired sahotage and propaganda assaults, Kuwait wants a speedy return to normal relations.

"We want to forget the past. There is no reason to keep the tension going on," he said. He also referred to the thousands of Iranian nationals who lived in Kuwait during the war and the strong trade ties that once existed hetween the northern Gulf neighbours.

"We never had a direct two "he said, problem with Iran," he said, characterising Iran's aggression against Kuwait as a hy-product of the war with Iraq.
Co-operation

"We bave received some Iranian officials after the ceasefire," Al Osaimi said, adding that these envoys made it very clear Iran wanted to normalise relations.

The minister added: "For Kuwait's part, our wish is to go to normal life.

Asked whether Iraq has been consulted on this diplomatic step. Al Osaimi said: "It is a Kuwaiti decision. We are practicing our sovereignty and we are going to decide when and where we resume relations with Iran."

Turning to other issues, the Kuwaiti minister described Kuwait's relations wilb the United States as passing through "a golden time" of co-operation on security issues, highlighted by the reflagging plan that allowed Kuwait to put half of its tanker fleet under US naval escort.

"The presence of the US fleet in the area for keeping peace has given the US a lot of credibility. not only in the Gulf, hut in the world," Al Osaimi said, But the minister criticised the US treatment of Iraq over its alleged use of chemical weapons to suppress Kurdish rebels. "We in Kuwait are against using chemical weapons or poison gas and we said that very clearly to the American amhassador and to the public," he emphasized. But Al Osaimi said that "we are very much afraid" that the US diplomatic and congressional campaign against Iraq "might affect the talks in Geneva." by allowing Iran to be intransigent.

He criticized the US officials for not using the same vigour to bring pressure on Israel's handling of the uprising by Palestinians in the Israeli-occupied

CAIRO, Sept 28, (AP): Egypt warned Israel today that failure to implement quickly an inter-national ruling on a disputed border area would put at risk the two countries' peace treaty.

Palestinians clash with soldiers in occupied territories

Sept 28, (UPI): Soldiers clashed with Palestinians for the sixth straight day today after Defence Minister Yitzhak Rabin defended mounting casualties in the Israeli-occupied territories as a way to halt the violence. In the Gaza Strip, Palestinians protested the high number of wounded in the occupied territories since Friday—at least 150 shot and wounded, six killed and two who died from wounds suffered earlier, Palestinian sources said. UN relief officials and Palestinian sources blamed most of the casualties on the military's use of plastic hullets.

Palestinian sources said more than 20 Arabs were wounded in the Gaza Strip today, hut many of the injured were afraid to go to hospitals for treatment because they feared arrest by the Army.

The Army denied the high casualty figure.

"It's not true," an Army spokswoman said. Soldiers shot and wounded only one Palestinian during violence today, she

Rabin told reporters yesterday that the purpose of the Army's introduction of plastic hullets in the West Bank and Gaza Strip was to wound Palestinians in an effort to crush the nearly 10month-old Palestinian uprising. Rabin said the firing of plastic hullets was not aimed at killing Palestinians.

Shortly after Rahin's comments, the Army confirmed that soldiers had shot and killed Osama Braika, 17, in the Gaza Strip yesterday with the new ammunition.

It was the first confirmation hy the military of a Palestinian killed by plastic hullets. Palestinian and hospital sources say at least one other Arah has died from the hullets. At least two other Palestinians died from Army gunfire yesterday, one who was wounded on Monday and the other killed yesterday in clashes in Gaza.

The Army elamped curfews late yesterday on al least four Gaza Strip refugee camps, where more than 128,000 Palestinians live. But residents defied the curfews. Palestinian sources said.

Also in the Gaza Strip, Palestinians mourned the death of former Gaza city mayor Rashad Shawa, 79, who died yesterday of a heart attack. The former pro-Jordanian mayor was twice removed from his post hy Israeli authorities for nationalistic

The state, which has legal jurisdiction over water use in and around Alaska, decided it had jurisdiction over icebergs when assistant attorney-general Michael Frank ruled, in effect, that ice is water.

UNITED NATIONS, Sept 28, (AP): Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze says the withdrawal of Red Army troops from Afghanistan has been suspended because of persistent violations of a UN-negotiated agreement.

Also, Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev told the United States and Pakistan to "come to their senses" and stop arming the guerrillas fighting the communist Afghan government.

In remarks reported by the official Tass news agency, Gorbachev said Pakistan was trying to install leaders in neighbouring Afghanistan to its own liking despite the wishes of the Afghan people.

At the United Nations,

Shevardnadze said the Soviets have not yet begun the second stage of their withdrawal from Afghanistan. Half a Soviet force of more than 100,000 troops had pulled out by Aug 15.

"Let's wait and see," he told reporters. "It is necessary to stop the violations that take place. It is the most important thing."

Terrorism

Pakistan's Foreign Minister Suhabzada Yaqub Kban said that since April 14, Afghanistan has violated the accords with air raids and terrorism.

He told the General Assembly
Tuesday that the Afghan Air ground violations of Pakistani territory, causing 40 deaths and injuring 114 people.

He also accused Afghanistan of sponsoring terrorism in Pakistan, saying Afghan agents mounted 259 attacks in 1987, killing 264 people and wounding 1,069. Since the Afghan accords, there have almost 70 more terrorist attacks, killing 74 people and injuring 55, he said.

Burmese rebels kill government troops

BANGKOK, Sept 28, (Reuter): Burmese rebel groups, striking as Burma's Army occupies cities to suppress a national revolt, have killed 49 government troops in frontier areas, the state radio

Rangoon Radio said last night guerrillas of the outlawed Burma Communist Party had driven Army soldiers from three hill outposts in Mong Yang, killing 44 Army soldiers and wounding Karen rebels overran a government outpost near Hlaingbwe in eastern Karen state on Monday, killing five government soldiers, said the radio, monitored in Bangkok.

Western diplomats said the BCP as well as Karen, Kachin, Shan and other ethnic minority rebel movements had gone on the offensive since Burma's Army seized power on Sept 18.

Since the coup, the 180,000strong Army has occupied Rangoon and other cities where onefifth of the population live to suppress a nanon-wide revolt against 26 years of military-dominated rule.

One day after the coup BCP radio said the BCP and the National Democratic Front, a grouping of 10 ethnic minority guerrilla groups to which it is allied, would "step up armed revolutionary activities against the Burmese Armed Forces to help the Burmese people."

It called the Armytakeover, "a threat to the democratic aspirations of the Burmese people that must be fought with all determination."

Mong Yang is a valley town near the Chinese border about 560 km northeast of Rangoon amid hills that are home to about 1,000 ethnie Shan guerrillas allied to the BCP.

Rangoon Radio said 36 communist troops had been killed since Sept 14.

Hlaingbwe, 88 km east of Rangoon, is crucial for control of lucrative smuggling routes. The guerrillas overran a military base outside the town, the state radio

Shawa dies of heart attack

GAZA, Sept 28, (Reuter): Rashad A! Shawa, Palestiman mayor of Gaza for 1! years until deposed by Israel in 1982, died at home yesterday of a heart attack, his family said. He was 79.

Shawa, a member of Jordanian King Hussein's Hashemite elan, was involved in Arab politics for 40 years.

He was regarded by Israelis and Palestinians as the senior pro-Jordanian "father figure" in the Gaza Strip, home to 650,000 Palestinians living under Israeli rule.

But his role was diminished in the territories by Jordan's loss of popular support to the Palestine Liberation Organisation (PLO), and a younger, more revolutionary Palestinian generation regarded him as out of touch.

Shawa, appointed mayor by Israel in 1971, was deposed in 1982 for failing to corporate with Israeli rule. His local influence remained strong largely because of his chairmanship of the Gaza benevolent society that dispensed Jordanian funds.

Doctors said they gave Hirohito another transfusion this morning. Earlier in the day, they said they had no plans for another transfusion.

The transfusion brought the total amount of blood given to Hirehito to 3,200 ces (6.8 pints) since he began comiting blood on Sept 19.

Sept 19.

Chief palace physician Akira Takagi said the large transfusions apparently had not harmed Hirohito's heart or kidney functions, so doctors planned to continue them to compensate for blood lost in internal bleeding.

Why running? "What better way to meet the common man?" they ask. "When we arrive in a fimousine, or fly in, we immediately put ourselves above the man on the street," they believe.

The trio started their journey

please ourselves," they said. Michel, a graphic designer, David, a photographer and Jean, a computer programmer, are joined by a common link: a yearning for adventure in strange lands. So, with a few thousand dollars, they set out on their trip, spending a bulk -$5,000 --- so far. Money

"Our only difficulty is money; it'll last us till we reach Kathmandu, Nepal, but after that we'll have to earn if we don't find a sponsor," they said. They are looking for a Sponsor.

They run about 90 kms a day; their longest run was from Basra to Kuwait — a distance of 168 kms, which they covered in 24 hours. "There was no way we could spend the night in the desert," they said.

They fly to Bombay on Saturday and will take a boat to Goa, from where they will restart their journey to Macao, a Portuguese colony, located on the southern coast of China, a distance of about 4,800 miles. "Weare not too happy about flying to India but we had no choice," said Michel.

Originally, they had planned to run across Iran, the Soviet Union, China to reach Macao. The Gulf war dampened their spirits and the Soviet Union did not grant permission to run across their territory, so they decided to hreak their journey in Kuwait and resume it in Goa.

They plan to spend nearly two months in India and are gearing up for the "spicy food and hot weather" they expect to encounter.

From Macao, they hope to extend their trip to cover the Philippines and Australia. "We don't know if we'll continue our journey; all depends on what happens after we reach Macao.'

SIR: Indian Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, Mr K.K. Tiwari's interview published in the Arah Times on 26th September, 1988, does not give the correct picture about Pakistao's ouclear inteotions.

It is well-known that Pakistan's modest nuclear programme was born out of the country's genuine needs in the energy sector. The absence of sufficient fossil fuels make ouclear energy for peaceful purposes a loog-term imperative. Compensation for ruined outfit:

SIR: Two pure silk outfits, given for dry cleaning, have been ruined by a reputed laundry in Ahmadi. On top of it, they refused to pay compensation, as promised. There is oo doubt about the quality of fabric, as they have been drycleaned before. The laundry agreed to remove the colour stains on my clothes.

I returned to the lauodry after two weeks to find that the colour-stains had hecome white stains, I took the lessexpensive dress — KD10 back home because I dido't want it ruined further, and asked for a compeosatioo for the one which cost KD 18. The employee asked me to come back after two weeks so that they could consult the management. Last week, I was told that I would get one-third price of the outfit, and they'll keep the dress. I brushed aside their offer and took my clothes back as I did not feel it was worth dealing with a laundry which offers such poor service to regular customers. What guarantee do we have that our clothes won't be ruined when we give them for dry-cleaning? All the slogans on their invoice mean oothing.

Get your facts right

SIR: I refer to the article "Unknown Mother Teresa of Peru's slums," (AT, Sept 18). 1 was astonished by the way the society and people of Peru are referred to. Piura is the main agricultural area where most of the cotton farms of Peru are situated. The city is very colonial. It was the first Spanish settlement in Peru in 1600 AD and was founded as a main city in 1832, and in the I can assure you that there is running water and sewers. In 1974 there were two orphanages and an organised handicapped society where I used to help twice a week. Peruvians are very consciou about the differences between rich and poor. Peru is not a country where sick children are throwo out in the street to die no matter how poor or nocducated they may be. I have been back to Peru many times since 1974 and I don't see Piura as worse than any other town. There is a deep-rooted society trying to help themselves. If there is any point in trying to promote a charity by degrading a decent town and their people. I think it is indecent.

Get your facts right and give people living in Kuwait 150 fils worth of accurate information. R. Cumming

Menace by teenagers

SIR: Every evening teenagers cause a lot of menace near the Indian and Pakistani schools in Salmiya.

They drive cars and ride motor bikes at high speed and use filthy language. People are afraid to walk on the streets. At times, they throw stones and bottles at passers-by. When questioned they gang up and are ready to fight.

Mud-slinging

SIR: Constant mud-slinging at each other is disconcerting. This attitude is a disgrace to the community. No donht self-proclaimed committees and clubs are raking in profits from socalled social programmes, at the cost of revelers. But aren't we also not part of this morbid charade? We are supposed to be kind and hospitable but are truly hypocrites at heart for our soobbery and indulge in it. It is sickening.

Let us unite and form a genuioe institution to improve our community and shed bypocrisy by channelling efforts for the betterment of our society back bome. I was told by a doctor friend that there is a shortage of medicines in Goa. Can't we, the fortunate ones, help the more unfortunate people back home? We can, if we look around us and see the lack of basic necessities in our villages. Our charity to humane causes would be granifying.

Seoul warming to communist nations

By Spencer Sherman

SEOUL, (UPI): Using the Olympic Games as a backdrop, South Korea, loog the ice-box of the cold war, is suddenly warming to communist nauons.

The government is taking advantage of the Seoul Olympics to launch a long-planned strategy to open markets and diplomatic contacts with the communist world. Seoul scored the first success of its new policy this month when Hungary became the first communist nation to agree to set up a permaneot mission in South K orea and the two countries said they would establish diplomatic relations soon. A Western diplomat said the move toward the East was, "in the long run ... more important for South Korea than any gold medals they may win.' A high ranking South Korean diplomat said, "wouldn't we be foolish to waste this opportunity to show all the world our success and see if we can't get the communist world to join us.

Film industry in dire straits

as TV reaches the masses

FROM the golden days of the 40's to the early 80's the Hindi film had the world at its feet. It had a captive and addictive and ence waiting to lap up most of what was offered in the name of entertainment. If it suffered, it was only when it made the wrong sort of films or the wrong combination of for-

But the slowly mounting invasion of television and its companion the video has changed all that in the eighties. For the first time there was a challenge to the monopoly of Indian cinema as the cheapest and only form of pop culture and mass entertainment. And the irony is that they have suc-ceeded hy using the material of cinema itself:

Indian TV had been around for more than 25 years, hat was ineffective initially. The first TV centre was started at Delhi in 1959 and it remained the only station for thirteen years. It had a onc-hour telecast twice weekly to start with. Later it was expanded to four days and then made daily in 1965. It was in 1972 that TV came to the big Bombay bazaar and the citadel of the film world.

Impact

But its initial impact was zero, as it was non-commercial, hlack and white TV, with government-oriented programmes on education, communication, rural welfare etc. The only time when large numbers of people watched TV was when it showed extracts of film songs or interviews with film people. The big deluge came in 1982 when colour TV arrived followed by sponsored programmes in 1984. It was only then that big and small industrial bouses became interested in advertising on the telly, though the commercial service had started way back in were organised to pounce on the pirated cassettes of new releases. But it was all in vain. Producers began to sell the video rights from the backdoor, Soon, it was all made official, with censor certificate and simultaneous release. But piracy continues in one form or

audience attendances fell, raids

Along with the video, TV also began to offer stiff competition. It has more than 200 transmitters and satellite services, enabling a national network and state-wise relay. For the first time in the Indian film history; the plum Sunday evening show with the highest attendance level began to run commercial or new art films. After all, it was a free show in the privacy of ones own home.

Those loyal to the cinemagoing habit became a minority.
TV also continued with its filmbased programmes which have the highest viewership, due to attractive excerpts from feature

And then came the onslaught of the popular TV serials, thus eating into the vital cinema time, even on week days or weekends. In 1984, the soap opera Humlog gave the lead, followed by Buniyand and Ramayana apart from the Ramayana, apart from the short-term ones like Nukkad and Yeh Jo Hai Zindagi. One or two serials every day, of whatever quality, hut shown at prime time, easily discourage people from going to cinema.

There are also regional films and songs, late-night movies, TV films specially made by famous directors, and sponsored programmes on grand foreign events, like the Oscar awards ceremony or the Miss Universe contests, apart from the second channel and break-

Cahle TV, available at reasonable cost, brings the best of material from the West and neighbour countries like Pakistan, right into the homes of the middle and lower classes. Why then should they suffer the hardships of going to theatres? The cinema bouses also declined in their services, with advance booking, seating conditions, airconditioning and even ushering services becoming a pain in the neck. In fact a video parlour is preferable with its projector and enlarged image.

The excise duty on film prints is so heavy that producers try to reduce the number, though they bave to start with saturation release. But within a week, at least 50,000 video cassettes are made of a new film, including official and pirated ones, at low prices. The main market is thus eaten off. If the industry was run by sane businessmen, it would have been closed down. But people with speculative and gambling instincts keep taking a risk on every new film and some have to show tax losses or turn black money into white. So new tricks of the trade are tried to pass the buck between producers, distributors,

Another offsboot is the birth of the independent video film, made on tape and meant only for that market. There is still no system of transferring from tape to film. That would cut down production costs hut the celluloid world would he ruined. Nari Hira's Hiba Films have kept up a regular flow of one video film a month, well distributed and with an antipiracy cell too. This new school of films has become quite a success and others too are following with feature films or specially recorded programmes and video-film magazines. Another blow to the cinema is that the video and TV industries have thrown up many new talents and also taken over some special talents of the cinema, who were finding the going tough. Stars like Alok-nath, Aaditya Pancholi, Neena Gupta, Deepa Sahi, Neeta Puri, Satish Shah, Shafi Inamdar, Abhinav, Sushma Seth. Sujata Mebta and many more have emerged from the small screen to compete on the big. Some talents like Om Puri

Arun Govil, Supriya and Deepika got a fresh lease with the small screen. Film-makers like Sayeed Mirza and Kundan Shab who could not bave survived in films found a haven in TV, though busy ones like Mahesh Bhatt have also tried their hand on it. This interaction between the old and new media will continue in a bigger way. Nowadays, even big stars are willing to work for TV.

So what is the future of cinema? Theatre owners want to close down at the earliest, if the rules are changed. Distributors become bankrupt and new ones take their place on the gambling table. Many veteran producers have been nearly driven out and they have stop-ped making films. The stars are at the moment the biggest profit-looters without a risk. But what will they do if there are no films?

The only ray of hope is that the entire video business aod much of TV depends on the star-studded feature films, and their songs as well as glamour. If this crashes, then the small screen will find it impossible to survive on its own material.

Balbinder, Rama Vij and Urmila star in the video film Janjaal.

Behind the screen

Sunjay Dutt could not wait for wife Richa and his newborn kid to come back to India. So be flew to the U.S.A. like a good father, hut throwing all his shooting dates out of gear and delaying the film world. If every star sends his pregnant wife ahroad and then himself rushes there, the film industry will close down sooner than expected.

N. Chandra bas become a successful director with two hits. Therefore even an iceberg like Madhuri Dixit got herself defrosted to be chummy with him. Sbc has got a swinging role in Tezzab. Since Chandra has emerged from the slums, he made some crude advances. But Madhuri swallowed even that. Another advantage is that they both speak the same language, Marathi.

Why did Rajesh Khanna go all the way to America to shoot a song sequence with Dimple for his Jai Shiv Shankar? What the insiders of his unit say is even more amazing. The entire song had already been lensed in Film City. But Kaka said he did not like it and scrapped it. The whole idea was actually 10 be nearer to Dimple and have an unofficial honeymoon. But what a costly way to win back one's own wife!

Reena Roy's hrother Raja Roy has been producing Takrao for ages now. It has Hema, Shatru, Rajnikant and Anita Raj. But the stars as well as director Harmesh Malhotra have lost interest. The reason is simple. Finance is not forthcoming as Reena is no longer a star.

Rajshri Films' new discovery Bhagyashri is not so new to the film world. Her father is Vijay Singh who comes from a royal family and has composed music for films, apart from the had experience of producing Kabhi Ajnabi The. Let's bope the daughter makes up for her father.

Some patients feel some chest pain or angina during the balloon inflation, hut many say the most uncomfortable part of the procedure is having to lie on their backs for several hours afterward to allow the groin incision to start healing.

The risks of angioplasty are low, hut a coronary bypass surgical team stands by in case of an emergency. About 25 per cent to 30 per cent of all arteries treated via angioplasty reclog within six months after the procedure, however.

QUESTION: My great-grandmother seems to be losing some of her ability to articulate properly. I've noticed that a lot of elderly people have changes in their voices. so at first I wasn't concerned. Should I be? ANSWER: Yes, concern is warranted. Sometimes even subtle changes in speech can be a clue to disease even before other signs are apparent. Elderly people who retain their young-sounding voices are generally in better overall health than most of their contemporaries whose voice changes.

When the change is in articulation, it could be due to neurological changes. Damage to different parts of the nervous system can affect different functions in speech. For example, a severe articulation problem can be caused by damage or degeneration of the fifth cranial nerve. That's because when that nerve is unhealthy, it hinders a person's ability to move his or her jaw up and down. You should make sure your great-grandmother checks her problem out with neurologist who has expertise in speech pathology.

You may observe the physician will listen attentively when your great-grandmother speaks, for the manner in which she talks, the tone and quality of her voice are all important clues that can lead to the diagnosis of the exact cause. Once the cause is known, attention can be directed at possible treatments to attack the problem.

Classics of do-it-yourself disasters

The most pointless petition

IN this genre the great A.N. Wilsoo is unsurpassed. During the autumn of 1987 the cootemporary oovelist hecame enraged that Poets' Corner in Westminster Abbey had no memorial bust honouring Matthew Arnold.

With a faultless display of campaigning skills, he fired off letters pointing out this disgraceful neglect and organised a petition of right-thinking literati, headed by the biographer Victoria Glendinning and Auberon Waugh, the editor of The Literary Review.

In a crusading editorial, Waugh wrote that "unlike many of those whose monuments adorn the abbey. Arnold's reputation has stood the test of time, and continued exclusion seems shameful." He urged his readers to write immediately to the Right Reverend Dean of Westminster, who was instantly submerged in a barrage of irate mail.

The campaign reached the perfect conclusion when the Dean wrote back thanking them for their interest and pointing out that their proposal seemed to overlook the life like bust of Arnold which had been in the Ahbey since 1981.

ing his house. Deciding to hire a pump, La went out to his car only to find that a tyre was flat. Returning indoors to make a phone call he received an electric shock so great that he was hurled across the room and ripped the telephone out of the wall.

He then found that dampness had caused the floor to swell and the front door was jammed so he could not get out. A seminal figure in the world of home repairs, he spent some while screaming through the window for help. Only when a neighbour smashed down the front door did Heise notice that his car had been stolen.

Having informed the police, hired a pump, sealed the leak and cleaned up his flat, Mr Heise felt that the moment had come to relax. Displaying an impressive-versatility, he went to a nearby civil war pageant and within minutes of arrival he sat on a bayonet.

US treasury secretary pledges more budget cuts

BERLIN, Sept 28, (Agencies): New US Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady pledged in a speech today before an audience of world economic and financial leaders that the United States will continue cutting the hudget

"The United States ... has implemented measures to reduce its budget deficit. We do not intend to stop here," Brady said m his first speech before the annual joint summit session of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

IMF officials have also pressed the United States to do more to correct what is one of the world's main trade imbalances.

Speakers at the opening ses-sion of the three-day meeting called for freer trade and for commercial banks to do more to help alleviate the Third World debt burden.

A revised version was presented in the West Berlin International Congress Centre by Bank Governor Satoshi Sumita at Tuesday's session in the absence of Finance Minister Kiichi Miyazawa, wbo stayed behind because of Emperor Hirohito's illness.

The plan is aimed to support middle-income debtor countries, mainly in Latin America, and was billed by Sumita as an "additional menu item" to the existing basic case-to-case strategy of tackling the $1.20 consider writing off the debts of trillion Third World debt, the ... He insisted that each country's development depends on its own government and people, but that resources from ahroad are also needed.

Poor countries poured cold water over new plans to ease the debt crisis and called on rich nations to do much more to alleviate poverty and so stave off social unrest in the Third World.

Protecting the environment so that disasters like the Bangladesh flood are a voided should become the prime concern of the international community, he said.

There is now a recognition of the close link between poverty, environmental degradation, and long-term sustainable development," Khandker said, "It will be too much for the struggling millions in (Ganges) delta to recurrently bear the schurge." Role

As poor countries painted a grim picture of their economic prospects, South Korea's finance minister announced that Seoul was ready to play a higger role in managing the world econ-omy and help other countries emulate its economic success.

"I can only emphasise that Korea is willing and anxious to share its development experiences with other developing nations and to assume wider responsibilities in world economic affairs," Sakong Il said.

Although Western govern-ments. notably the Reagan administration, have long urged South Korea to participate more actively in the world economy, Seoul's demand for more voting power in the IMF is likely to be controversial because it would be at the expense of other countries.

World Business Summary

Court upholds EEC right to punish non-EEC firms LUXEMBOURG, Sept 28, (AP): The European Court of Justice, in what was hailed as a landmark ruling, today upheld the right of the European Economic Community to punish non-EEC firms for violating its fair trade rules. The court upheld the legal basis on which the EEC commission decided in 1984 to fine 1S US. Canadian and Finnish makers of wood-pulp which is used to make paper. A senior EEC commission lawyer said the ruling was important as it let the EEC combat the price policies of international cartels based outside the EEC that distort trade within the EEC. He said the commission has long struggled with the question of its powers in these matters. "We can live with this (territoriality) criterion which has been established by the court," said the lawyer, who asked not to be named. The court said the said the tawyer, who asked not to be damed. The court said the commission rightly applied the EEC's fair trade rules even though the firms fined are not EEC companies. It said between 1975 and 1981 these colluded to fix their prices "to restrict free competition within the Common Market." The fines ranged from $54,500 to $545,000 and were imposed on 41 US, Canadian, Finnish, Swedish, Norwegian, Portuguese and Spanish firms and two trade associations. Only nine US and six Canadian firms and the Pulp, Paper and Paperboard Association and Fincell, the US and Firmish trade groups, took the matter to court. They argued that by applying its fair trade rules to firms outside the EEC, the Community violated international law. But the court ruled "the manufacturers implemented their price accord within the Common Market. The competence of the Community to apply its competition rules to such behaviour is covered by the territoriality principle that is universally recognised under international law."

The commission lawyer said the court used the "effects doctrine" as favoured by the United States in its anti-trust policy. The rulings of the Court of Justice, the EEC High Court, are final and become EEC law in all member states as soon as they are issued.

to resolve debt: Khorafi

Jassem Al Khorafi

WEST BERLIN, Sept 28, (KUNA): Kuwait's Finance Minister Jassem Al Khorafi today affirmed that the joint today affirmed that the joint annual meetings of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank were "a good opportunity" for the Kuwait delegation to raise important issues related to the Arah world. Those issues include Egypt's suspended membership at the institutions and the floods in Sudan in a statement to KUNA, Al Khorafi said that economic problems of developing countries and their economic growth were discussed along with their debt problems.

Discussions

During these discussions, the Kuwaiti delegation held bilateral meetings with Arah delegations to the annual meetings. Kuwaiti officials also met officials from the Third World with which Kuwait bas mutual interests and good ties.

The discussions were aimed at opening new spheres of cooperation between Kuwait and these countries.

Discussing the debts owed by the less-developed nations, Al Kborali said the problem is not new and has been reviewed repeatedly.

Khorafi said he hopes that a new and clear path will be pur-stred by the involved parties to work out a speedy settlement. Development debts must be dealt with on a separate basis from the commercial aspects, he

He urged the industrial nations to combine their efforts and not to work alone to resolve or ease the debt dilemma. During the meetings, Japan said it will contribute an unspecified sum to belp the developing countries overcome their debt problems and rebuild their Inflation does not threaten economy: Sprinkel Higher US interest rates have also helped strengthen the value of the US dollar.

WASHINGTON, Sept 28, (Reuter): Beryl Sprinkel, President Reagan's Chief Econ-omic Adviser, said today that recent price increases were only temporary and that inflation was not threatening the US economy.

He said the recent rise in the inflation rate as measured by the consumer price index (CPI) was due to higher food prices caused hy last summer's North American drought and higher costs for imported goods caused by a weaker dollar.

"We went through what I would call an inflationary scare," Sprinkel told reporters as he released a report reviewing the state of the US economy.

Last week the government reported the CPI rose 0.4 per cent in August. Consumer prices rose hy four per cent for the 12 months ended on Aug 31, but rose hy an annual rate of 4.6 per cent for the first eight months of 1988 against 4.4 per cent for all of 1987, the Labour Department said. Financial markets have been concerned that the US economy has been growing too rapidly and in danger of overheating which could increase the inflation rate.

The administration is anxious to calm such inflationary fears in a presidential election year. Con-cern about inflation has tran-slated into higher interest rates throughout the economy.

In response to this concern, the US central bank, the Federal Reserve, has nudged up interest rates in order to slow the surprisingly strong economy. On Aug 9 the Fed raised its key discount rate, the interest it charges hanks for loans, to 6.5 per cent from six per cent.

London Stock Market Report

U.K. SHARES STEADY, OFF HIGHS IN LATE AFTERNOON LONDON, SEPT 28, REUTER - SHARE PRICES WERE STEADY IN QUIETER LATE AFTERNOON BUSINESS, TRADING JUST BELOW THE EARLIER NIGHS ON THE DAY AFTER A WEAK START, DEALERS SAID.

THE RISE TO THE OAY'S HIGHS LARGELY REFLECTED FRESH SPECULATIVE INTEREST, WITH ALLIED LYONS UP 19P TO 467 ON TURMOVER OF 8.1 MLN SHARES. A 305P PER SHARE BID BY CABLE AND WIRELESS FOR TELEPHONE RENTALS (TR) ADDED TO THE BIO TALK. CABLE AND WIRELESS WAS UP 3P TO 388, WHILE TR JUMPED TO 331P FROM YESTERDAY'S 211 CLOSE. CABLE'S BIO VALUES TR AT 283.8 MLM STG. BY 1447 GMT THE FTSE 1CO SHARE INDEX WAS UP 7.4 POINTS TO 1,815.4 AFTER A HIGH OF 1,817.8 AT 1208 GHT.

OEALERS SAIO THE EARLY RETREAT WHICH TOOK THE FTSE 100 DOWN TO ITS LOW ON THE DAY OF 1,802.5 AT 0809 GHT WAS A CONTINUATION OF YESTERDAY'S SELLING AT THE TOP OF THE RALLY CAUSED BY THE BETTER THAN EXPECTED U.K. AUGUST BALANCE OF PAYMENTS OATA.

CONCERN PERSISTS OVER YESTERDAY'S DATA, WHICH SHOW THE SECOND LARGEST CURRENT ACCOUNT DEFICIT ON RECORD. WORRIES CENTRE ON CONSUMER DEMAND, WHICH SHOWS LITTLE SIGN OF ABATIHG DESPITE RECENT INCREASES IN U.K. BASE RATES TO THE CURRENT 12 PCT LEVEL

PART OF TODAY'S ADVANCE WAS CAUSED BY THE RECOGNITION THAT INSTITUTIONAL INVESTORS RETAIN HIGH CASH SALANCES AND COULD BE LOOKING TO DIRECT FUNDS INTO THE EQUITY MARKET SOON.

London Gold

LONDON, SEPT 28, REUTER - GOLD BULLION GAVE UP EARLY GAINS TO CLOSE LITTLE CHANGEO.

OEALERS SAIO OPTIONS-RELATED ACTIVITY KEPT PRICES FIRM UNTI THE EARLY AFTERNOON BUT THE MARKET THEN ORIFTED OFF, WITH BULLION ENDING AROUND THE DAY'S LOWS AT 394/394.50 DLRS AN CUNCE, DOWN JUST 25 CENTS FROM TUESDAY'S CLOSE. THERE IS STILL CONSIDERABLE UNCERTAINTY ABOUT THE MARKET'S

THE COVERING OF EXISTING SHORT POSITIONS IS CURRENTLY PROVIOING SUPPORT, BUT THIS COULD BE FOLLOWED BY TRADERS TAKING OUT NEW SHORTS, CEALERS SAID.

London Money Market

LONDON, SEPT 28, REUTER - MONEY MARKET RATES WERE LITTLE CHANGED FROM EASIER LEVELS REACHED YESTERDAY AS THE MARKET SETTLED DOWN TO PLAY A WAITING GAME WITH THE BRITISH ECONOMY. DEALERS ARE RELUCTANT TO ASCRIBE MORE TO THE SMALLER THAN EXPECTED AUGUST U.K. CURRENT ACCOUNT DEFICIT THAN A NILDLY ENCOURAGING SIGN THE MONETARY TIGHTENING BEGUN IN JUNE IS STARTING TO RESTRAIN BRITAIN'S RUNAWAY CONSUMER CEMAND.

"THE MARKET'S EUPNORIA OVER THE TRADE FIGURES WAS RATHER PREMATURE AND WE NEED A LOT MORE EVICENCE THE ECONOMY'S SLOWING. BUT, THOUGH IT MAY TAKE A FEW MONTHS, WE'RE ASSUMING THE NEXT MOVE IN INTEREST RATES WILL BE DOWNWARD NOW, " ONE DEALER SAID.

Wall Street Market Report

NEW YORK, Sept 28, (Reuter): Wall Street stocks edged higher in slow trading. Piper Jaffray and Hopwood analyst Ed Nicoski sald stocks rose when "there was no followthrough to the early fail, which was due to a soft bond market." Bonds fell on doubts new note public demand would be strong. The Dow was up four at 2086 and declining issues narrowly outnumbered.

gainers. Trading was slow. Nicoski said: "The market looks like it will fall further on a near term basts

The bond market seems to have made a top, meaning that interest rates now could rise."

Tokyo Stock Market Report

TOKYO STOCKS CLOSE NIGHER IN BRISK, BROADEN TRADE TOKYO, SEPT 28, NEUTER - SHARE PRICES CLOSED SHARPLY HIGHER, SUPPORTED THROUGHOUT THE DAY BY BRISK TRADE AND MORE PARTICIPANTS, AMID CONTINUED OPTIMISM AT THE START OF THE BIG BROKERS' NEW FISCAL YEAR, BROKERS SAID.

"IT'S BROAD-BASED BUYING BASICALLY BECAUSE OF OPTIMISM FROM THE BIG FOUR," SAIO ONE BROKER.

FROM THE BIG FOUR, SAID ONE BROKER.

"ME'LL SEE A LOT OF MONEY COMING IN IN OCTOBER. THIS IS KIMO OF A PRE-RUSH," HE SAID.

THE HIKKEI INDEX ROSE 252.45 POINTS, OR 0.92 PCT, TO

27,752.01. IT CLOSED UP 165.81 POINTS ON TUESDAY. VOLUME WAS A

MEAVY 1.8 SILLION SHARES, UNCHANGED FROM TUESDAY. IT HAS BEEN SOME THREE WEEKS SINCE THE INDEX HAS NISEN THIS MANY POINTS IN ONE DAY. IT CLOSED UP 371.75 POINTS ON SEPTEMBER 3, THE FIRST DAY OF FUTURES TRADE.

ADVANCERS HAD A STRONG LEAD OVER LOSERS WITH 554 ISSUES UP AND 310 DOWN. THIS IS A SIGN BUYING INTEREST HAS SPREAD. INDICATING A MEALTHIEN MARKET THAN ON TUESDAY, WHEN DECLINING ISSUES OUTPACED NISERS ALTHOUGH THE INDEX WAS HIGHER.

SECURITIES HOUSE, NON-LIFE INSURANCE, RAILWAY/BUS, CONSTRUCTION, WAREHOUSE, NEAL ESTATE AND OIL SHARES LED THE NISES. PRECISION INSTRUMENT, PHARMACEUTICAL, AIRLINE, RETAIL, ELECTRICAL AND SOME MANUFACTURING ISSUES LED THE DECLINES.

"TODAY IS A DEALING MARKET," SAID SEIICHIRO MAKAGAMA, A FUND MANAGER AT BITTH. "THE MARKET IS STRONG, BUT INSTITUTIONAL INVESTORS ARE CAUTICUS. THEY AME STILL WORRIED ABOUT FOREIGN EXCHANGE AND INTEREST RATES," HE SAIO. ANOTHER FACTOR HOLDING SOME INSTITUTIONS BACK IS CONCERN OVER THE MEALTH OF THE EMPEROR.

ALTHOUGH EMPEROR HIROHITO'S CONDITION WAS BASICALLY UNCHANGED TODAY, IT WAS STILL CRITICAL. THERE IS SPECULATION THE MARKET WOULD CLOSE DOWN FOR MOURHING SHOULD THE EMPEROR

Hong Kong Market Report

HONG KONG, SEPT 28, REUTER - SHARE PRICES CONTINUED TO DRIFT LOWER IN SLUGGISH TRADE, BROKERS SAID.
THE HANG SENG INDEX EMDED 16.52 POINTS LOWER AT 2,449.75, WHILE THE BROADER-BASED HONS KONG INDEX SHED 10.88 TO 1,612.88.

TURNOVER TOTALLED 336.45 MLN H.K. DLRS AGAINST TUESDAY'S 309.20 MLN DLRS.

A LOCAL BROKER SAID THE RESTRUCTURING PLAN OF AMOY PROPERTIES AND LOCAL PROPRETIES AKHOUNCED ON TUESDAY IS EXPECTED TO BE FOLLOWED BY A FUND-RAISING PLAN TO TAP THE MARKET, WHICH DEPRESSED SENTIMENT THROUGHOUT THE DAY.

He also told the official United Arab Emirates oews agency WAM that Iraq would attend the upcoming joint meeting of the OPEC price committee and long-term strategy committee.

"Iraq is prepared to join a new OPEC agreement oo quotas after all problems facing the organisation, including production and prices, are resolved," he said. He said Iraq's quota was not the main problem facing the Organisation of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC). "There are other problems and some are more serious than standing issues. "We have agreed to discuss Iraq's quota if OPEC completed revisioo of other standing issues related to quotas, production. prices and quality of crudes and the members' positions towards them," bc said.

Asked about Iraq's demand for parity with Iran's quota of 2.369 million BPD now that the two countries were engaged in peace talks, he said:

Position

"Our position is clear ... when we demanded parity with Iran we were in a state of war that had its requirements. But now we are faciog oew cooditioos that presuppose greater commitment."

In ao interview published oo Monday in the Nicosia-based oil industry newsletter Middle East Economic Survey (MEES), Al Chalabi said the first problem faciog OPEC was defining crude oil and condensates.

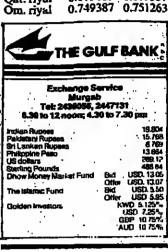

Coodensates are bydrocarboos which liquefy after reaching ground level and are excluded from OPEC production quotas.

Some members try to evade organisation discipline by registering certain types of crude oil as condensates.

Kuwait dinar :: deposit rates mixed:

KUWAITI dinar deposit rates eased io the fixed periods but firmed slightly in the short dates as liquidity remained tight from a spate of dollar buying. Dealers said the dinar firmed against the dollar for the first time since Saturday but banks maintained long dollar posi-tions, seeing continued strength in the US currency

The Central Bank bought three-month Treasury bills on the secondary market but only slightly boosted liquidity, they said. It adjusted its dioar exchange rate slightly firmer to 0.28845/55 to the dollar from Tuesday's 0.28852/62, while commercial banks quoted spot rates of around 0.28848/55.

Bids

The short dates were well bid. Overnight trades hit 11 per cent, up from Tuesday's 10 per cent. while spot-next and tomorrownext bids also rose one point to nine percent. The fixed periods opened at

Tuesday levels but fell back as much as 1/2 point to seven, 6-3/4 per cent for the ooe and twomonth and seven, 6-5/8 per cent for the three and six-month.

Meanwhile, Saudi riyal interbank deposits firmed in active trade as banks covered year-end positioos amid expectations rates would rise further.

News of a decision by the Sandi Arabian Monetary Agency (SAMA) decision to extendits government bondoffer to private investors and a rise in dollar interest rates - often closely tracked by riyal deposits - also exerted upward pressure.

Baokers said SAMA bad issued new guidelines for its fort-nightly 1.5 billion riyal offerings and kingdom banks were working out details of bow to repackage the ootes for a secondary market.

Citibank offers new services to NRIs

CITIBANK, in the forefront of banks offering services to Non-Resident Indians, has come out with yet another product to cater to the needs of NRIs. Citilife Extra, tailored specifically for the Middle East market, is an insurance-linked time deposit that offers multiple advantages to a customer, says Jolly Zachariah, Personal Accounts Manager.

A depositor gets among the highest tax-free returns in the world on his deposit. In addition, he also gets a very low cost insurance cover for life and medical expenses. "The medical insurance feature is unique to Citibank," says Zachariah. For a low premium of US$ 85-120 per annum depending on age, a depositor can get a benefit of up to US$ 100 per day of hospitalisation. Io addition, he can also get covered for life insurance up to twice the maturity value of the deposit.

The procedure is very simple. There is oo need for a medical check-up, and a few simple questions on the application form is all that a customer has to answer. Insurance-linked deposits are not new to Citibank. Citilife Plus, launched in July 1986, caters to the life insurance needs of a depositor, and has mel with tremendous response from the NRIs. With medical insurance also added, Citilife Extra is now a comprehensive

The policies have been underwritten by American Life Insurance Co. (ALICO) on a group insurance basis so that the depositor gets the advantage of very low premiums. NRIs can start opening Citilife

New international award for engineering and technology

WASHINGTON, Sept 28, (AP): The National Academy of Engineering today announced the establishment of a new international award for achievement in engineering and technology that it hopes will become as wellknown and respected as the Nobel prizes.

"This award is designed to focus world wide attention on the critical role that engineering and technology play in improving the quality of everyday life," Robert M. White, the academy's president, said in announcing the award after engineering pioneer

Charles Stark Draper.

Draper developed the theory and invented the technology of inertial guidance systems now universally used in aircraft, submarines, missiles and space vehi-

White noted that "our society tends to reward the discoverer of basic scientific principles but overlook the engineer who puts that principle into practice in products and services that yield societal and economic benefits."

"We hope that in years to come, the Charles Stark Draper prize will be just as well-known and respected an award in engineering as the Nobel prizes are today for chemistry, physics and medicine," he said.

According to White, the recipieot of the first Draper prize consisting of a gold medal and $350,000 in prize money - will be announced in October 1989. The award subsequently will be given every two years.

Japan wants to reduce role of dollar

WEST BERLIN, Sept 28, (Reuter): Japan, worried by the dollar's free-fall late last year, is pushing to reduce the role of the US currency in world monetary

The idea is backed by France hut is meeting resistance from other major countries.

Japanese officials say that Japan, its foreign exchange reserves bulging, baulks at the prospect it might have to huy unwanted dollars in the future.

It might have to do that to help prop up the currency in which most of the world does business, if markets decided the dollar was a bad investment bet, sold it and sent it tumbling. Response

The response to those fears came at the meeting of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and World Bank here.

Bank of Japan Governor Satoshi Sumita urged that the IMF's quasi-currency, the Special Drawing Right (SDR), be made into an easily usable international reserve currency.

His notion was similar to an appeal by French Finance Minister Pierre Beregovoy.

Delegates said, the concerns of Japan, now a financial superpower and the higgest creditor nation, are being taken seriously, though other major countries have reservations.

Nigel Lawson, Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, was douhtful.

There has been a lot of talk about substituting the SDR for the dollar. It hasn't come to any-thing and I don't believe it is likely to do so," he told a news conference.

His West German counterpart, Gerhard Stoltenberg, said it was unrealistic that the SDR could take over a bigger role.

'Most industrial countries think there is no real concept for a new (monetary) system, and we would lose some of the advantages of the current system" he told journalists.

The new US Treasury Secretary, Nicholas Brady, did not directly discuss this issue, but US policy in the past has been opposed to anything which could give America less leverage in monetary affairs.

Sumita signalled Japan's opposition to any exchange rate pact that could leave it stuck with unwanted dollars, though one official emphasised that was not. a worry at the moment.

Speaking in what some delegates said was economic code language, Sumita said a sys-tem of "ranges" or "bands" forcurrency would require "full consideration of asset settlement."

A senior Japanese official illustrated the point by noting that the United States is under no ohligation to exchange the dollars Japan buys in the foreign exchange markets into gold, SDRs or other currencies.

Until such ohligations for all countries were established, Japan would be opposed to any system that would require it to intervene in exchange markets to defend fixed currency ranges, the senior official said.

concern about holding a currency vulnerable to major declines by suggesting the United States issue non-dollar denominated bonds to overseas investors to help finance its budget deficit

Washington has rejected that Both Japanese and European officials argue that because the dollar is a key reserve currency, the United States has been able to borrow from abroad in its own currency and thus avoid the fin-

Japanese officials have privately expressed concern in the past about what they considered at times rather cavalier approach to the dollar by the US administration.

They were particular worried by the frequent attempts by US officials, including former US Treasury Secretary James Baker, to talk down the dollar and thus force changes in Japanese and West German economic

To slow the dollar's drop; Japan intervened frequently in the currency markets, often with out the help of other nations.
But now an increasing number of Japanese policymakers and big businessmen are coming to recognise the value of a strong yen in holding down inflation. One Japanese official said the Group of Seven (G-7) may have decided to be vague about the dollar in its weekend statement, to avoid disagreements about where it should head.

Dear Junior Readers,

Something that many people say they wish for is peace in the world, but appretimes, when I see the cruel and wicked things that people do. Heal that we will never be without wars and fighting because ams to be something inside some peopla that makes them enjoy apsetting, hunting and killing living things. Yes, we all get angreaccostonally or feel that we want to get back at someone who has daine or said something unfair, but these people are not angry obout anything (except maybe the fact that they were born stupid), they stoply get pleasure out of harming people and animals. It also seems that the more helpless and weak their victims are, the more pleasure these sick people get from frightening and hurling them.

do hope that your parents and teachers are helping you to understand how terribly wicked it is to behave like this. You in your turn can pass the message on to your children and hopefully in the years to come, we will have a world where peace and brotherhood are not just dreams but realities.

THERE was once a poor crossing-sweeper whose name was Peter.

He lived rather a long time ago when even in quite hig towns the roads were ill-made, so that in bad weather they got terribly muddy and dirty.

In the summer-time he did not have much to do, but there was always dust and paper ahout, and even in summer it rains sometimes -- doesn't it?

He didn't earn a great anything. He had, however, a cheerful beart, and managed somehow to make enough to pay the rent and to provide food and clothing for himself and his wife and his little son. One cold winter's day he had taken rather more pennies than usual and went to get a cup of coffee from a coffee stall not very from his crossing, before starting on his way home.

He put his broom in a dark corner inside some railings where he often left it if he went away for a few minutes. Now, oddly enough, it happened that someone else had left a broom inside those railings. It was just the same size and shape as bis own, and as it was nearly dark he never saw that there were two, and be got hold of the wrong one and went off home with it. He put it down in the corner of the yard and went into the house to have his tea with his wife and little son. Early the next morning, as he was getting dressed,

There was his little son, who was only six years old, playing in the yard with the hroom. He had his legs astride it, and was pretending it was a horse.

'Gee-up, gee-up,' he said. And really the hroom seemed to be prancing and leaping in the strangest way. 'Almost as if it were really alive, thought Peter.

And just as he was thinking that, his little son called out: 'Now then, up you go. Over the wall, Beauty!'

And — would you believe it? — the astonished Peter actually saw the broom rise up, with the boy still astride it, and fly over the wall into the next-door

He rushed downstairs, half-dressed as he was, ran through the gate, and into his neighbour's yard.

There he found his little boy, safe and sound on the ground, still astride the broom, laughing with joy and excitement. Good Beauty, good Beauty,' he said. But Peter stood staring in utter astonishment.

'Mother, mother,' he called, when he could speak. 'Come quick, the broom's bewitched.'

You can imagine what a to-do there was, and how all the neighbours came flocking round to see.

Every one had some different suggestion to make as to how the broom came to be bewitched. They stood round in a circle looking at it lying in Peter's neighbour's yard, for no one dared to pick it up at first.

But presently Peter plucked up his courage and took hold of it, and seeing that nothing happened to him, his wife took it up in her turn. She turned it round in her bands.

Why, Peter,' she said, this is not your broom at all. Don't you remember the hrown hurnt mark it got when it fell across the kitchen grate? That mark's not on this broom handle. You've got someone else's broom by mistake.'

'It's my belief,' said the little dried-up brown cobhler from the end cottage, 'it's my belief it's a witch's broom. I'd have nothing to do with it if I were you, Peter. I should advise you out it back where you got it from. Maybe your own broom is still there.

So Peter went off to look for his own broom, but he found it bad disappeared. He brought the other one home again. 'What shall we do?' he said to his wife when he came back. 'I can't afford to buy a new broom; but I'm a bit afraid of this one. I dare say it really is a witch's broom. Don't you think it would be best to throw it away?"

But Peter's wife was a careful woman.

'No,' she said, 'Now we've got it, I reckon we'd better stick to it. It may bring good fortune. Who knows?

So they kept the broom, and soon it brought them good fortune indeed for they quickly found out that it went wherever it was told to go hy the person sitting astride it.

It was really a most marvellous thing. Peter and his son went riding on it all day long at first, then other people had a ride; soon the whole neighbourhood knew of Peter's wonderful broom.

Presently it began to hring in money. Pcople who wanted to get anywhere in a hurry would come in and arrange to go on the broom. They paid handsomely. It was so convenient, as you can imagine. And much quicker than any other way, for motor cars and aeroplanes were not yet invented. Peter began to grow rich. He moved into a bigger house with a little garden in front; he bought new clothes for his wife and the boy, he even talked of going up to London, where he felt sure he would earn more money with the wonderful broom. He no longer swept a crossing, and they had meat for dinner every day, and a whole roast chicken for dinner on Strangers coming into the place would stare in astonishment at the sight of somebody sailing through the air on a hroomstiek.

That's Perer's broom. the townsfolk would explain.

You can hire it out for a shilling an hour if you're lucky enough to find it

One day a great scientst came to stay in Peter's town. He was a very great scientist indeed, and he spent his time finding out things about the moon. He was very much interested in the moon. And when he heard about the hroom he went nearly mad with excitement.

'Now I shall be able to go and see what the moon is really like, he said.

Peter wasn't sure whether he liked the idea of the broom making such a long journey; hut his wife persuaded him to consent. It will take him many hours to get to the moon, she said. Think what a lot of shillings that will mean. And what harm can he come to?

So Peter consented, and the scientist set off.

It took him a good long time to reach the moon. and when be got there the very first person he saw was the witch to whom the broom belonged, for, of course, it was a witch's broom, as you will have already guessed.

She was sitting on the very edge of the moon in a very bad temper. You see, it's very annoying for a witch to lose her hroom; it is her chief way of getting about, and without it she has to depend either upon friendly lifts or upon whatever witchcraft she can think of to help her.

And a broom is so much simpler.

THE LONGEST MOTORABLE ROAD IN THE WORLD IS THE PAN AMERICAN HISHWAY, FROM NORTH WEST ALASKA TO SANTIAGO, CHILE, THENCE EASTWARD TO BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA AND

youwicked old greybeard! The scientist was very frightened indeed, for witches are alarming at the best of times, and when they're angry ...

He backed and backed. and before he knew what was happening he had fallen off the edge of the moon, down, down, down - and then, plop into the middle of the sea.

As good luck would have it, he was seen falling by the look-out man on a vessel, and was hauled in and given dry clothes and a hot drink and was not much the worse.

But he was hitterly disappointed. Of course it was very hard.

Think of having a chance of seeing the moon at close quarters after studying it for years and years from far off, and then being chased off it hy an old witch. And it wasn't his fault, either.

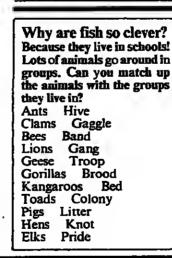

He was a nice old scientist. He went back to find Peter and to pay him for the hire of the broom, and to explain what had happened. Of course Peter couldn't blame him. After all, the broom wasn't really his cither. However, thanks to his careful wife, he had already saved enough money to he able to live quite comfortably ever after, so he didn't do so badly after all - did he

From Tokyo to Treviso, firms abandoned the man who became the hottest property in sport last Saturday with his world record win in the Olympic 100 metres.

Three days later, he fled Seoul in disgrace after being found to have taken muscle-building drugs. The dope test that destroyed his athletics career could cost him up to $10 million.

Italian sportswear firm Diadora, which signed a $2.8 million deal with Johnson last February, cancelled the five-year package that had been hailed as the biggest sponsorship contract ever agreed in athletics.

Diadora, which also sponsors the Italian national soccer team, had used Johnson to promote its grey and yellowing running shoes, tracksuits and vests. Johnson's sponsorsbip contracts paid a bonus for an Olympic gold medal but also contained doping clauses that gave firms the right to opt out. Many.

rapidly withdraw all television and commercial advertisements featuring Johnson.

Deal

Mazda Motor Corp., which had named Johnson its athlete of 1986 and 1987, used to give him a sports car each year. It has withdrawn from a sponsorship deal due for renewal in December.

The Johnson and Johnson Company, makers of everything from baby powder to furniture polish; had a 1988 contract with Johnson but suickly begun removing product posters featuring the Canadian.

A Finnish advertising campaign that used Johnson to stress that milk was good for you was quickly axed. The promotion was aimed mainly at young peo-

Sports officials in Johnson's hometown of Toronto were worried that the fall from grace of the muscle-packed sprinter might threaten the Canadian city's chances of hosting the 1996 Olympic Games.

The runner's picture is prominently displayed in publicity booklets that promote the city's bid. They will probably be getting new covers now,

Toronto officials said. At 26, Johnson was basking in the glow of the world's admirnon, awaiting delivery of a cus-tom-made $250,000 Ferrari sports car and returning to a

THOMPSON FACES DEFEAT IN DECATHLON

Deloach takes Lewis' 200 metres title

Lewis lost his Olympic 200 metres title to training partner Joe Deloach today and Daley Thompson faced defeat in the decathlon as the heroes of the Los Angeles Games made way for another generation.

Lewis and Thompson we ethe supermen of the athletics competition four years ago.

Lewis breezed to four gold medals in 1984 while Thompson confirmed his status as the greatest decathlete in history with his second Olympic title to follow one world, one European Commonwealth and two crowns.

Now Lewis has been beaten in both sprint events, only retaining the 100 metres title by default when Canadian Ben Johnson was stripped off the gold medal after being positively dope tes-

Disciplines

Thompson lay only third after the first day of competition after recording two of his worst ever marks in five of the 10 disciplines. Lewis, 27, relinquished his title gracefully.

He congratulated his friend and rival then told a news conference he expected to compete again next year. But he added: "After that I will evaluate on a year-to-year The American was asked: "Is this the end of an era? "No I don't think so," he replied. "Looking at the overall situation sprinters are improving, it's not a new era." Deloach, 21, paid tribute to Thompson outwardly was the same confident, cocky figure who has dominated the decathlon for most of the past decade. But the 30-year-old Briton looked decidedly lacklustre despite setting the fastest time in the opening 100 metres.

His performances in the long jump and closing 400 metres race were a measure of just how far Thompson has declined in the past two years.

His long jump of 7.38 metres was his worst for 11 years and his 400 metres time of 49.06 seconds his slowest since 1976. East German sports student Christian Schenk leads the event with France's Christian Plaziat Deloach's victory was not entirely unexpected. The 21year-old Texan university student had the advantage of being able to concentrate on only one event here.

Another Lewis, 19-year-old Steve who is not related to Carl, provided the real unset of the day when he held off world record holder Butch Reynolds to win the men's 400 title.

Lewis became only the fifth man to break the 44-second barrier when he clocked 43.87 seconds to lead an American medal sweep. The other two gold medals decided today went to Australian Hungary withdrew their entire weightlighting team from Olymies today after one of their silver medallists failed a doping test, a Hungarian official said.

Miklos Revesz of the Hungarian Olympic Committee told Reuters the International Olympic Committee (IOC) informed the team that Andor Szanyi, who won the silver medal in the 100 kg class, had tested positive for

Soviets may take part in 1991 America's Cup

SAN DIEGO, Sept 28, (Reuter): The Soviet Union is considering making its first challenge for the America's Cup, a San Diego Yacht Club official said today.

Club commodore Donglas Alford said Michael Smirnov, a Soviet trade official in Washington had telephoned him recently to inquire how Soviet vacht clubs could file challenges to sail in the next Cup regatta, scheduled for

Inform The call was followed up this week by a letter from Timer Pinegin, general secretary of the Soviet Sailing Federation, to Sail

America, the managing arm for the San Diego Yacht Club. "I wish to inform you of our interest in taking part in America's Cup XXVIII by several Soviet yacht clubs," Pinegin's letter said.

Sail America vice-president Tom Ehman said yesterday that he would welcome the Russians.

"For the last two decades, the Soviets have been a power in Olympic yachting. A Soviet challenge will make the America's Cup even more competitive and therefore, even more difficult to defend," he said.

The filing deadline to be included in the 1991 races is this November 8. Nine challengers have already filed their intentions and Ehman said he expected at least another six.

On file as of yesterday were two notices from Australia, one from France, four from Britain, one from Sweden and one from Japan, Ehman said.

Ehman said the Soviets will be invited to the challenger meetings in Southampton next month, where the boat design for the next Cup challenge will be discussed, as well as to the International Yacht Racing Umon meetings in London in November, where the new yacht design will be put to a vote.

On the question of possible security problems caused by a Soviet presence in San Diego, a port city with a beavy US Navy presence, Ehman told Reuters:

"We have touched base with the state department and they were obviously concerned about security hut didn't foresee any problems arising from n yacht race in the middle of the Pacific Ocean. This is one more thing to make organising the event more interesting next time around."

Davis cues up for Masters final

WORLD champion Steve Davis came through a tense semi-final clash with Willie Thorne last night to put himself into the final of the Dubai Duty Free Masters.

Davis showed why he is the favourite for the £25,000 first prize with a typically professional performance against Thorne, the world number 13. Davis took the opening frame of the nine frame match 90-21 before I home struck back in the second with a break of 79 to level the scores at 1-1. Highest

Davis regained the lead in the third frame, winning 75-16, before stretching his advantage to 3-1 with two hreaks of 47 and 39. This seemed to spur Thorne on and be returned after the interval to pot the highest break of the tournament -- 107 - and cut hack the deficit to one frame.

But that was the end of Thorne's challenge, and Davis took the next two frames to clinch his place in the final of the Duty Free
